Dear Tom

I would like to write this letter to express my gratitude on the service I have had during my stay at Edmonton at 11929 93 Street.

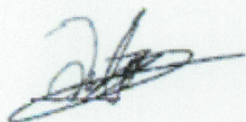

Being from Australia, It was actually my first time living in a shared accommodation in Canada. I was very impressed on how professional and efficient your company is in preparing for tenant-arrival, including in distribution of the documents and instructions on how to conduct moving-in, all of which I was able to complete before I even entered Alberta. Once I saw my clean tidy fully furnished room exactly shown as in the pictures, I was convinced that I found a good place.

In the next couple of months, I had a great time with my respectful room-mates and became good friends them. The cleaning schedule we all took on to clean the house works greatly. In addition, I even volunteered as the confidant captain to promote the so called confidant culture of "Clean, care; mutual respect"

I was getting into a family emergency situation, and I had to terminate my lease prematurely. After I discussed my situation with the office, they were very helpful and worked out a flexible "frustration agreement" so that I could move out earlier without worrying about the unfinished lease-term and rental payments.

Overall, my first experience in Canada of renting with Flying Stone Canada and engaging with Tom and the other office-staff was a great one. I would not hesitate to recommend Flying Stone Canada to anyone who is looking for clean, highly-maintained shared accommodation, and a great company on whose support you can depend. They are honest, efficient, and always strive for continuous improvement.

Warm regards,

Vincent
